

Green Network Energy UK, first Italian energy supplier in the UK, to supply green electricity to Italian UK Embassy

Green Network Energy UK (GNE-UK), the UK based Italian independent energy supplier, has signed a deal which sees it become the sole energy provider for all Italian Embassy sites in the UK.

The contract provides all Italian UK Embassy sites with several advantageous features including the electricity being backed by 100% renewable electricity.

In addition, the deal will see the Italian Embassy benefit from a new, simpler relationship with a single supplier.

This is a notable change for business account holders as many multi-site or multi-premises organisations typically deal with two or more suppliers.

With an account manager as a dedicated point of contact, this offering marks a new stage of GNE-UK's customer care programme. This approach focuses upon delivering great service to the customer by meeting their needs and delivering a tailored, bespoke solution to their specific requirements.

GNE-UK is the UK arm of the Green Network Group. Founded in 2003 to shake-up the Italian energy sector, by providing services differently and passionately, the group is now the fourth largest electricity supplier in Italy and opened its UK business in 2016. Now, over 450,000 active residential and small business accounts receive energy from GNE-UK: a UK business with an Italian touch.

Sabrina Corbo, founder and CEO of Green Network Energy UK commented: "We are honored that such an important and prestigious institution as the Italian Embassy has chosen us as its energy supplier. Their choice of Green Network Energy UK to supply gas and 100% green electricity underlines the value of our work in the UK, and the strength of our offering.

"We're proud of our growth in the United Kingdom. We are more committed than ever to further growth and investment; using our core strengths of a quality products and service to all customers."

Notes for editors

1 - Green Network Energy UK is an independent energy supplier, founded in 2016 to bring an Italian touch to the UK market. It serves 420,000 residential and 2,800 business accounts and offers tariffs to suit different requirements (including a 100% renewable electricity tariff). It plans to grow further and challenge larger UK providers.

Parent company, Green Network, is a major Italian energy supplier (fourth largest for volume of electricity), launched in 2003 following deregulation of the market. It commands a €2bn+ turnover, invests in renewable energy generation schemes across Italy and in Romania and plans further expansion in European markets.
